

RE: Low Power FM services. I understand that this new service will take a priority over existing FM Translators. I rely on one particular station that relies on Translators, K-LOVE. If the new rule doesn't "grandfather" existing translator stations, it should. K-LOVE relies on this method of broadcast to keep costs low and hopefully prevent duplication of services. Of the two christian stations in my area this is the only "non advertisement" radio station, which I prefer.
